

The Wild Center's Summer Institute for Teachers: Empowering Students for Climate Resilience

July 15-18, 2019

North Country School's Round Lake Campus, Lake Placid NY
*featuring a keynote & conversation with Bill McKibben

Join a network of teachers from across New York State for a hands-on exploration of climate change education best practices at North Country School's spectacular Round Lake Campus. This experience includes field trips, cutting-edge climate science, planning time, exposure to a suite of climate education resources, and content aligning to NYS Science Learning Standards. Content is best suited for middle and high school teachers across all disciplines, and teachers are strongly encouraged to attend in teams from their district. Residential and non-residential options available.

COST

Residential: $150, includes meals and onsite lodging

Non-Residential: $100, lodging and some meals on your own

Eligible for Continuing Education credit

CONTACT US

Registration opens January 2019 at www.wildcenter.org/youthclimate

For questions or more information, contact Erin Griffin, Climate & Communities Coordinator: egriffin@wildcenter.org

